

Recent and favorite portrait of Cardinal Mercier of Belgium, the distinguished prelate who is about to visit America.

Copyright, International Film.

Here are some of the British, French and Belgian girls who won the hearts and hands of American doughboys. Several hundred landed recently and were quartered temporarily in the 71st Regiment Armory under care of the Red Cross.

Copyright, International Film.

American girls, take notice! Here are foreign born brides of some of our fighting men, aboard a transport just reaching New York. The Y. W. C. A. and Red Cross did much to make them comfortable.

Major Orde Lees of the British Air Forces and his quick opening parachute for aviators. He dropped successfully from a low flying airplane off the Statue of Liberty and from Brooklyn Bridge.

Copyright, Underwood & Underwood.

First photograph from Germany showing the disarming of U-boats in the Kiel Canal before their surrender to the Allies.

Copyright, Keystone.

Mlle. Marie Louise Gombier, a Belgian girl sentenced to death by the Germans, twice awarded the Croix de Guerre and about to become an American. Copyright, International Film.